IBSEN, GREAT NORWEGIAN DRAMATIST, DIED TODAY

Plays Produced And Persued In United States,
And Great Controversy Has Been Stirred Up.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Christiania, Norway, May 23.—Henrik Ibsen, the noted Norwegian poet and dramatist, whose works have created a furor throughout the educated world during the past fifteen years, died here this afternoon at the age of seventy-eight years. He was born at Skejv in southern Norway, March 21, 1828. In 1842 he was apprenticed to a chemist at Grimstad, but abandoned that profession to devote himself to literature. Ibsen became a student in Christiania University, but never completed his course, leaving to enter journalism. In this work he remained two years, and then became director of Ole Bull's theatre at Bergen and in that capacity wrote "The Banquet at Solhaug" (1856) and "Lady Inger at Ostrat" (1857), his first literary efforts. He composed three more dramas in the next six years—"The Warriors in Helgeland," "Love's Comedy" and "The Rival Kings." These placed him in the front rank of Scandinavian dramatists. He had won fame at home and in 1854 left Norway to live abroad. At different times his home was in Rome, Dresden and Munich. In 1866 the Norwegian parliament granted him a pension and in the next year appeared the two great lyric dramas of "Brand" and "Peer Gynt." Other works are "Emperor and Galilean," "Pillars of Society," "A Doll's House," "Ghosts," "An Enemy of the People," "The Wild Duck," "Rosmersholm," "The Lady from the Sea," "The Master Builder" and "Little Eyolf." The last named came out in 1894. His last plays aroused a storm of controversy in England in 1893 as they had done shortly before in Germany and the Scandinavian countries. Up to that time he was practically unknown and untried in the United States, but he suddenly achieved an extraordinary popularity and his plays are being produced and produced. Ibsen is known as a naturalist, or realist, his writings were for moral purposes.

Is Refused.

Decatur, Ill., May 23.—The application for an injunction to restrain the Union of Presbyterian churches, was refused today by Judge Johns. The judge's decision was read in the assembly at its opening and a resolution that, in entering on a union, the Cumberland Presbyterians do not surrender any integral part of their doctrine, was adopted.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, May 23.—The suit to contest the will of Miss Alice Hamilton, a granddaughter of Alexander Hamilton, came up for hearing before Surrogate Fitzgerald today. Miss Hamilton died last September, leaving an estate estimated at $500,000. The original will was drawn in 1884, but the five codicils drawn in the next thirteen years changed its aspect considerably. A large number of revolutionary relics and heirlooms were left to friends, but the bulk of the estate was bequeathed to Adelaide Hamilton, sister of the testatrix. The contest has been brought by Alexander Hamilton, a brother, and other relatives, who declare that Miss Hamilton was incompetent and had been so adjudged by the supreme court. Miss Hamilton was eighty years old at the time of her death. She had occupied the old Hamilton home in West Twentieth street for many years.

RESOLUTION BROUGHT BIG DISCUSSION IN ASSEMBLY

Prayer Book Proposition Bothers The Presbyterians Very Much Just Now.

Des Moines, Ia., May 23.—The clash in the Presbyterian assembly which was caused yesterday in the question of the prayer book was brought about by the following resolution. No vote will be taken until Friday.

The special committee on forms and services submitted its report and recommended the adoption of the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the general assembly hereby calls the attention of its ministers and congregations to the historic position of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America in regard to liberty in the conduct of public worship. The minister is not confined to any set form of service, nor is he prohibited from using such forms, in harmony with the doctrine of this church, as may seem to him convenient and appropriate. The Directory for Worship refers frequently to 'the discretion of the minister,' 'the prudence of the minister,' 'the judgment and fidelity of the pastor,' in the arrangement and proportion of the different parts of the service. The assembly of 1882 asserted 'the liberty which belongs to each minister to avail himself of the Calvinistic or other ancient devotional forms of the Reformed church, so far as may seem to him for edification'; and the general assembly of 1884 reaffirmed the action of two previous assemblies to the effect that 'the whole internal arrangement of a church as to worship and order is committed to the minister and session'; all of which this assembly affirms.

Resolved, That the general assembly calls attention to the fact that it has no power or authority to impose any particular forms of conducting worship, or any obligatory liturgy, upon the church; and that the existing liberty of worship is safeguarded by the constitution, which requires that any amendment to the Directory for Worship must be submitted to the presbyteries, and receive an affirmative vote of a majority of them, before it can become effective.

Resolved, That the general assembly recognizes that the committee appointed by the assembly of 1903 'to prepare, in harmony with the Directory for Worship, a Book of Simple Forms and Services, which shall be proper and helpful for voluntary use in Presbyterian churches, in the celebration of the sacraments, in marriages and funerals and in the conduct of public worship,' have reached a 'definite and satisfactory completion of their work,' in accordance with the instructions given by the assemblies of 1904 and 1905; and that the Book of Common Worship is now published by the board of publication by authority of the general assembly as an orderly compendium, containing helpful forms in harmony with the doctrine of our church and proper for voluntary use.

Resolved, That the committee is now discharged.

SOME MORE FACTS FOR COMING ROYAL WEDDING

Distinguished Party Of Officials Will Greet
The Bride-To-Be On Entering Spain.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madrid, May 23.—A large and distinguished party, including military officers, civil officials, and court dignitaries, have proceeded to the frontier to meet Princess Ena of Battenberg, who is to make her entry into Spain tomorrow to become the bride of King Alfonso. The princess will be met by members of the British embassy, who will make the formal presentation of the future queen and her suite to the Spanish authorities. This presentation may be regarded as the first official act of the journey. As soon as it is concluded the royal train will start for Madrid. At the stations the respectful homage of the local authorities and the inhabitants. As a special honor she will be greeted everywhere by the salute accorded to royalty.

The princess and her family will be lodged at the palace of El Pardo, one of the magnificent seats of the Spanish royal family some seven miles from Madrid. The palace is a large and stately building and contains many famous works of art.

Princess Ena's stay at the Pardo is fixed by precedent at six days, during which she will receive official visits from all the authorities, the officers of the King's household, the cortes and the senate. During the week preceding the wedding the princess' trousseau will be shown to the public in the senate house, and her jewels, which will also be shown, will be guarded by the king's halberdiers.

Madrid's preparations for the wedding are going forward apace. The decorations are rapidly nearing completion, and, in addition to the route which the wedding procession will follow, many other streets are being profusely adorned with flags and bunting. Facades of many houses are almost hidden by long stretches of red and yellow cloth and their occupants have hung multi-colored carpets, silk tapestries—many of them, beautifully embroidered—and other such objects from the windows and balconies. Festoons of evergreens, in which variegated fairy lamps form rosobuds, are stretched across the streets from imitation palm trees and banners flutter from countless Venetian masts. The national colors everywhere predominate, with here and there a British Union Jack flying.

Country folk are already arriving in town to attend the great public festivities, which will both precede and follow the wedding. The fete will include gala performances, military reviews, a parade of representatives of the Spanish provinces in typical costumes, a royal bullfight, balls and receptions.

Many picturesque groups of peasants are now to be seen on the streets. The men are in quaint costumes—embroidered waistcoats and knee breeches adorned with big silver buttons, with gaily handkerchiefs around their heads and hempen sandals on their feet. Others, wearing close-fitting jackets with silver buttons, carry tartan shawls on their shoulders and have staves in their hands. The women are dressed in the brightest colors, yellow and red, with embroidered shawls on their heads or roses intertwined in their hair. The women of the better class wear the graceful black mantilla, and are soberly attired.

JOINT DEBATE TO BE HELD BY SOCIETIES

Two High School Literary Societies
Are to Have a Formal Discussion.

Next Saturday evening at the high school building occurs the debate between the Rusk Lyceum and the Forum. These two literary societies of the high school have been putting forth their utmost efforts to make the debate one of the best ever held by literary societies of the same school. The subject is "Resolved, That the Interstate Commerce Commission Shall Have the Power to Fix Freight Rates." It is a subject which has troubled the minds of some of the greatest men in this country and every person interested in the subject should not fail to be present to hear what the boys think who have made the subject a study for the last few months. The debate will be opened by the Rusk Lyceum members, who have the affirmative. Those who will represent the two societies are Orville Swift, Earl Brown and Jerome Davis for the Rusk Lyceum, while the Forum will be represented by William Spohn, James Hoague and Harold Jones. The boys in their search have been ably assisted by the members of their organizations who also have an interest in the debate and a patriotic love for the welfare of their society. Each side will be given an hour between them to divide as they see fit, and fifteen minutes for rebuttal, so that the debate will last about two hours and a half, and they promise to keep the interest aroused of all those present and leave points with them that will be worthy of consideration. The debaters have been exempted from all other work in the societies, so that they might put their efforts on the debate. This topic of debate has been used by a large number of the leading colleges and universities and it was with some hard work in view that the societies of the local high school chose that topic. The boys have, however, used none of the stereotyped topics that have been used by any of the great debating teams, but will make use of some of the best thoughts expressed by some of the greatest men of the country. Music will be furnished by the high school orchestra before the debate and while the judges are out expressing their opinion. The judges have not yet been decided upon, but will be by a joint meeting of the two societies today. It will be held in the assembly room of the high school building and will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The Rusk Lyceum is a literary society of many years standing, while the Forum is practically a new society; nevertheless some good work has been accomplished by them in the last year and now the merits of the two is just about on a par. This is the first time a debate has been held between the two societies, but it is expected that after this year they will be held annually. The debate will not only be of interest to the shippers and manufacturers of the city, but to the public as a whole and they deserve a good audience on this evening. A joint picnic will be held by these two organizations on Decoration Day, at which time all rivalry will be forgotten except that of a baseball game held between teams.

BILL HAS BEEN PUT TO SLEEP

PHILIPPINE TARIFF REDUCTION
QUESTION LAID ASIDE.

BUT NOT KILLED FOREVER

Senate Will Not Likely Take Any Further Action on Measure This Session at Least.

Washington, D. C.—(Special Correspondence.)—The Philippine tariff bill is up the flue, for this session, at least. This is a broad statement to make with six weeks of the session still remaining, but, as the situation has never been incorrectly forecasted in these columns, the readers of the Gazette can rest assured that your correspondent has the best of reasons for saying the bill is dead for this session.

The above does not mean that no further attempt will be made to pass the bill before congress adjourns. Much depends upon circumstances and not a little upon the temper of the senate. At the present time that body is not in the humor to take kindly to any measure so distinctly associated with the administration as the Philippine tariff bill. The relations between the White House and the senate are so strained that there are not wanting those in the senate who would take delight in further harassing the administration by holding up or otherwise defeating any measure with which it was identified. The only way in which the bill can be gotten out of the committee is by a motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill. This might be successful under ordinary circumstances but at best it would be a proceeding entirely out of keeping with senate traditions and the administration would have to be very strong indeed to secure a sufficient number of votes for such a motion. With conditions as they are at present it is extremely doubtful if Senator Lodge could rally enough members to his support to carry a motion to discharge the committee, and it would not only kill the bill but give the administration another black eye should he make such an attempt and fail in it. Indeed, it seems as though it would be a piece of very bad generalship for Senator Lodge to risk a decisive defeat at this time, and no one ever accused the wily and astute senator from Massachusetts of being a bad general. As the spokesman of the President on the floor of the senate, Senator Lodge has quite enough to do to report the views of his friend on the railroad rate bill, without mixing in the Philippine tariff bill at this time.

But suppose Senator Lodge should make the motion and it should be carried? There remains but little time for the senate to deliberate on anything except appropriation bills and there are a dozen or more senators who are prepared to talk on this subject indefinitely to open up the tariff discussion, and, in short, to employ all the tactics known to obstructionists in that body. Even with great strength behind it the Philippine tariff bill at this time would have a slim chance of getting through the senate, and everybody knows it is a weak sister. Consequently the situation sums itself up to the effect that the bill is dead for this session.

Last week it was mentioned that rumors had been floating around to the effect that Secretary Taft was trying to effect a compromise on a 50 per cent basis. Secretary Taft says that this report is not true. As the secretary is usually frank, open and honest in dealing with the newspapers, it is reasonable to accept his statement as true, but inquiries made by your correspondent since that time show that some one has been negotiating at the capitol with a view of effecting a compromise on this basis and, whether with Secretary Taft's approval or not, has indicated that the secretary would accept the compromise in order to secure some legislation at this time. A senator who has been one of the leaders in the fight against a further reduction in the Philippine tariff ever since the reduction was first proposed gave your correspondent some very interesting details in connection with the contest in the Senate Committee. "Of course you are familiar with the way in which the vote was taken on the day that the Senate Committee refused to report the bill," he said. "On that day Senator McCready moved to provide for absolute free trade with the islands immediately. This was lost. Senator Lodge recently entertained the idea that he could call the committee together and move to reconsider the vote on the McCready free trade amendment. If Messrs. Lodge, Beveridge and Long and the four democrats who voted for the McCready amendment should all vote to reconsider the motion and then adopt the amendment, the bill could be reported to the senate providing for absolute free trade to be effective on the passage of the bill. Then in the open senate the bill could be amended to suit the majority. On the face of this it would look at the start as a triumph for the democratic members who want free trade but when the scheme was broached to Senator McCready he frankly told Senator Lodge that he was not acting in good faith in that he made no pretense of being sincere in a desire for immediate free trade, but that he only wanted to use him and his democratic colleagues for his own purposes to get the bill out of the committee. While Senator McCready is in favor of immediate free trade he did not propose to merely help the republicans along and consequently announced that he would not vote for his own amendment under such circumstances. Senators Culberson and Stone took the same view of the matter and that was the end of that particular plan to get the bill out of the committee."

From this it can be seen there is nothing left to Senator Lodge to do except to move that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the bill, and this, as stated above, he is not likely to do.

In connection with the fight over this bill, too much cannot be said in praise of Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, whose firm stand in behalf of the tobacco interests of the state has enabled the opponents of the bill to win their victory. Mr. Brandegee is one of the younger senators, being only 42 years of age. He was elected to the senate on May 9, 1905, only a year ago, to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Platt. His term of office will expire March 4, 1909, and within two years he will be up before the legislature of Connecticut as a candidate for re-election. It will be remembered that in the House of Representatives, Representative Hill, of Connecticut, who is a member of the Ways and Means Committee, was one of the staunchest champions of the Philippine tariff bill. The attitudes of the two men on this bill were therefore in sharp contrast, the one urging the passage of a bill which the other was assisting to defeat. Representative Hill was one of the foremost candidates for the seat in the senate which Senator Brandegee secured, and should the circumstances be propitious, Mr. Hill will again be a candidate when the legislature elects Senator Brandegee's successor. Recognizing these facts, the friends of the Philippine tariff bill saw in Senator Brandegee a comparatively easy victim. The idea of influencing such an old stager as Hale of Maine or Burrows of Michigan or Fred Dubois of Idaho or of twisting Senator Dick around after that consummate politician had once taken a stand, was not to be thought of, but with Representative Hill arrayed on the opposite side of Senator Brandegee and the latter coming up within a couple of years for re-election and being a comparatively young man and only filling an unexpired term, it did seem as though he was, to use a slang expression, a soft mark. Consequently, Senator Brandegee has been bombarded with petitions, telegrams and letters of remonstrance against his position on this bill of a character calculated to cause him considerable uneasiness. How much of this pressure comes from the friends of Representative Hill is not, of course, known, but as Mr. Hill was one of the prime movers in fact, the most important factor in the passage of the free alcohol bill by the House, a matter in which the manufacturers of the nutmeg state are vitally interested, it is reasonable to presume that if he should say the word his friends among the manufacturers would assail Senator Brandegee because of his position on the Philippine tariff bill, with which Mr. Hill is also closely identified. It is therefore not unlikely that some of the protests which Senator Brandegee is receiving come from the friends of Representative Hill. So far Senator Brandegee has showed no signs of weakening but it is up to the tobacco interests of Connecticut to let him know that his course has been approved by them and that he has their best wishes and moral support in this matter.

Encouragement from outsiders is also well enough but after all it is the people of Connecticut who will elect his successor.

FREE SEED IS NOT ASKED FOR

FARMERS' ASSOCIATIONS HAVE TAKEN ACTION.

GENERAL WASHINGTON NEWS

"Trotting Ambulance," Built on Plan of Uniriskish, Recommended to War Department.

(By William Wolf Smith.)
Washington, D. C., May 21.—(Special Correspondence.)—Those members of the house of representatives who accepted the statements of Representative Galt of Tennessee and others that the farmers of the country were demanding free seeds from a paternalistic government are likely to learn to their cost that the intelligent farmers repudiate their generosity and are inclined to look the "gift-horse" in the mouth most critically. Practically every agricultural periodical which has appeared since the house voted in favor of free seeds has denounced its action in strong terms. The representatives who voted for free seeds are now being made the more uneasy by the receipt of resolutions adopted by the executive committee of the National Agricultural Press league, condemning the practice and maintaining that it is not approved by self-respecting farmers or farmers' associations. The committee met in St. Louis, Mo., on May 12 and not only adopted resolutions but directed that they be sent to every senator and representative and to all agricultural papers. The resolutions adopted were as follows:

"Resolved, That the National Agricultural Press league (is opposed to the government distribution of free seeds except so far as it is necessary for experimental purposes in the introduction of new, rare and valuable seeds within the meaning of the original act authorizing seed distribution. The distribution of ordinary field, vegetable and garden seeds as a gift from the government is a degeneration from the original purpose and is not approved in principle or practice by self-respecting farmers or farmers' associations throughout the country, and there is no more to be said in favor of government seed distribution as at present conducted than there would be in favor of a regular distribution to farmers or any other class of citizens of free beef, free sugar or free flour at the expense of the taxpayers of the country."

It is directed that a copy of this resolution be sent to all senators, members of congress, the United States Agricultural department, agricultural papers and to others interested.

(Signed)
PHILIP H. HALE,
JOHN M. STARR,
CHARLES F. MULLS,
Executive Committee Agricultural Press League.

After this action it seems there can be no doubt as to where the agricultural press of the country stands on this proposition. While the senate committee on agriculture has the matter under consideration, letters and telegrams are pouring in on the senate from the daily press, the agricultural press, the seed trade, farmers' organizations and others urging them to restore the appropriation to its original form and to stop this waste of public money and unwarranted perversion of a once useful fund.

The attention of the navy department having been called to the variations of compasses on ships plying in the Great Lakes, Commander Nicholson, assistant chief of the Equipment bureau, has been ordered to Cleveland, Ohio, for the purpose of setting up prominent marks in proper places so that the captains of passing ships may check off any error in their compasses and make the necessary adjustments. For some time past many complaints have been made by lake captains of the erratic behavior of their compasses upon which the safety of their ships depends. Carriages of iron ore and metals capable of affecting the magnetic needle were undoubtedly the prime cause of these complaints, but it was realized that it might be possible to reduce the evils arising from such causes. Commander Nicholson takes with him the necessary instruments to establish "true north" at these marked places and call upon the nearest branch hydrographic offices for any needed help. Such marks will be placed on the banks of the St. Clair river and in the Straits of Mackinac, which will enable captains of ships passing between the three great lakes of Michigan, Superior and Huron to make the necessary corrections in their compasses. The officers at these offices will assist any ship captain in adjusting his compasses when out of order.

A "rapid-transit" galloping ambulance of English invention has been recommended for use in the army and navy of the United States by a joint board of medical officers of those establishments. The ambulance is described as a very light two-wheeled vehicle with shafts, provided with springs, thus making travel comfortable. The patient can be securely strapped in the ambulance on a litter, and is protected from the rain, wind and sun by a substantial cover provided with curtains and a hood. Cavalry horses, broken to pull by a breast collar can be utilized to draw the ambulance, the driver riding the horse. The board says one man can manage the ambulance and load or unload the patient. The tread is narrow, thus permitting its use in rough and hilly country, and having only two wheels, it can be turned about with ease. This ambulance, while not being recommended to take the place of the present army ambulance, will be a valuable addition to the means of transporting the sick and wounded of the army and navy and can also be pressed into service in taking dressings and supplies near to the dressing stations.

An evidence of the widespread destruction in San Francisco by the recent earthquake, was received at the redemption division of the treasury department the other day in the shape of a steel money box containing $245 in paper currency, a number of collars and a gold ring. The box measured five inches high, six wide and twelve long, divided into four parts by strips of redwood, and was sent to the department by a person who discovered it lying in one of the deserted streets of the city. Upon prying the door of the box open it was found that the intense heat had charred every portion of the redwood, and also the paper money, $125 of which was wrapped in a roll. The coins, which were of gold, silver, nickel and copper, were discolored and bent almost beyond recognition. The ring of 18 karat gold, was dull black in color. These articles were placed in a vault in the department where many thousands of dollars of similar amounts are stored. This fund is usually styled "the trust fund of lost estates" and consists of money discovered in fires, earthquakes, storms, and from the effects of deceased soldiers, sailors and public officials who have no relatives to claim their effects. This money is stored away in the treasury vaults and is there held in trust until proper claim is made for it. Money of this character has been in the keeping of the department as far back as 1730.

ANNUAL MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS

All But Two of Directors Whose Terms Had Expired Were
Re-elected.

At the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Janesville branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, last evening a committee on nominations consisting of W. H. Blair, C. S. Cleland, and B. T. Donnell named the following whose terms had expired for re-election to the directorate for a period of three years: J. P. Lewis, Dr. E. E. Loomis, J. L. Post, Wick, C. D. Child, and A. W. Hall. The vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas Erickson was filled by the election of H. C. Bell for the unexpired term of one year. General regret was expressed over the resignation of W. G. Palmer, who is soon to remove to Milwaukee. His unexpired term of two years will be filled by L. K. Crissey. The annual financial report showed that the Association was in better condition than ever before. The organization of the new board will be perfected at the next meeting to be held at the call of President Lewis. At that time a president and other officers will be elected.

TOO MUCH MONEY IS PUT IN THE MINES

Janesville People Are Not Building
This Year, Expecting to Erect Palaces Next.

"Too much money is being invested in lead and zinc mining property in Northwestern Wisconsin, this year," Janesville people are pointing their gold in prospecting holes and shafts and hardly spending a dollar for new homes or dwellings to rent here. Possibly they expect to erect palaces or a dozen in place of one or two tenant houses if they wait," so says a Janesville builder. Whether the mining investment theory is true or not it is very certain that there is little building being done here this summer compared to what was done last year or the year before. Of course no one can account for the fact that handsome new residences are not going up but it is odd indeed that not more houses for rental purposes are being built. Rent is now higher than it has been for years and with the prospects of from two hundred and fifty to three hundred more residents when the new Northwestern assaying yards are completed, there is sure to be a demand for good substantial dwellings. Many railroad men do not own homes, because there is always a possibility that they will be compelled to move, but yet they want homes that are comfortable and with modern conveniences. Janesville is enlarging in other ways and the need of houses is sure to grow.

Play Spoils Workers.

The Southeastern Passenger association has taken a rather singular action at the request of the merchants and manufacturers of the south. These classes complained to the general passenger agents that frequent excursions out of commercial centers invited the workers to get away from the mills during the hot weather, and this unauthorized vacation cut down the number of men employed by the mills. The manufacturers have asked that the excursions be stopped altogether. The railroad has decided that the freight business was more important than the passenger, and this summer they will run only one excursion out of each commercial center.

Almost a Fire.—Thursday, the 17th inst., a fire broke out in a house belonging to Oscar Bowman, and occupied by Fletcher Sanford in the Town of Fulton. The family was absent at the time and the wind being high the flames spread with rapidity, but were finally subdued by the energetic efforts of the neighbors. The furniture of the house was removed in considerable haste and sustained no little damage. The building was injured to the amount of some fifty dollars. Our informant states that Mr. Sanford is an invalid and the loss he has sustained falls heavily upon him, and gives it as his opinion that he will not be allowed to bear the burden alone.

Five Hundred Dollars Reward.—It will be seen by a proclamation of the $500 has been offered for the arrest of August Schelling, the murderer of Groner. This will undoubtedly stimulate renewed exertion for the apprehension of the culprit.

Ruaway.—This afternoon a span of horses attached to a lumber wagon, belonging to Richard Burk of the town of Rock, came down West Milwaukee street, across the upper bridge at full speed where the wagon came in contact with some vehicle in front of Sutherland's demolishing them and throwing Mr. Burk and the boys forward onto the ground. One of the horses also fell heavily on Mr. Burk.
When he was picked up it was thought he was fatally injured, but as we go to press he has revived and is more comfortable. The boys were not injured.

and expected that this would not be the case, as the intention of the framers of the bill would seem to be to feed the children and to pursue the parents. Whether it would be possible to carry out this intention effectively is altogether another matter."

THE MERIT SYSTEM.

The State Civil Service Commission is sending out to the press of the state a circular letter and asking free publication. The letter is nothing more nor less than an advertisement and should be treated as such.

There are about a dozen vacancies in the state institutions and under the law known as the civil service law, these vacancies can only be filled by the civil service board and from a list of candidates who have passed an examination.

The press of the state is asked to help the cause along by advertising for the board gratuitously. There is no reason why this should be done. There is nothing philanthropic about the work and if the state can afford to pay a commission it can afford to pay for the necessary advertising.

State civil service is one of the reforms of the day, and the only merit it possesses is in the fact that it makes a place on the payroll for a commission, and thus enables the governor to take care of his friends.

The places filled by this commission are minor places in the state institutions, and they can only be intelligently filled by the superintendents who are held responsible for their work and efficiency. If the superintendent needs advice the state board of control is behind him, and this board, which devotes all of its time to state work, is certainly more competent to advise than a commission.

The civil service system takes away the authority of officials who are held accountable. It deprives them of the right to hire and discharge employees, and makes them a laughing stock among the people whom they are supposed to control. This is a weakness which any employer will recognize and appreciate.

The civil service commission is also a cumbersome piece of machinery. It supports an examining board of three people, in every assembly district in the state. Those boards, in the one hundred or more assembly districts, are numerically larger than the list of employees with whom they have to deal. If they are not on the state payroll they should be; for there is no more reason why examining boards should work for nothing than there is for the papers of the state to advertise gratuitously. There is a good deal of unmitigated gall about many Wisconsin reforms and the civil service proposition stands close to the head of the list.

PRESS COMMENT.

Calls For Help Are Many.
Marquette Eagle-Star: Now start a subscription for the sufferers in the forest fires.

Time Presses on Apace.
Exchange: At the same time Senator Hatten should not wait too long if he really intends to get into the game.

That's the Pertinent Question.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: A Texas paper says "the strawberry crop is large, likewise, the berries." How about the boxes?

Great Jar Among Fruit Stands.
Sheboygan Journal: Italy has another cabinet crisis, and every fruit stand in the United States is shaking in sympathy.

Lecturing Over Lenroot's Shoulder.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Senator La Follette's message to Speaker Lenroot was evidently intended as a "pointer" for the people of Wisconsin.

A Jab For Lyman.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Lyman Abbott declares that ideals in America are high. And if some idealists would dismount from their stilts and preach the attainable good it would lead to results.

True, too True!
Chicago Record-Herald: Boys who were named after Governor Cleveland are getting old enough to marry. This will remind the middle-aged citizen that he is not as young as he used to be.

Bound to Make Bad Feeling.
Green Bay Gazette: If the democrats should really conclude to nominate La Follette for president and the latter consent to the program, what would Bryan, Hearst, Tillman, Bailey, and the balance of the democratic possibilities do?

Among the Best.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: America has absorbed more than 2,000,000 German immigrants within the past thirty years. It may interest the Kaiser to know that Uncle Sam considers them the most prudent and industrious members of his big family.

Conclusion Tinctured With Prejudice.
Milwaukee Free Press: A clergyman of Springfield, Mass., declares that "bridge" is the most damnable practice indulged in by human beings on the whole face of the earth. Other people have been known to make remarks of like tenor, but it has generally been after a run of intolerably bad luck.

Peanut Adulteration a Possibility?
Exchange: Peanuts are recommended as a substitute for meat. It doesn't look as though they could adulterate peanuts, at least while the goobers are wearing their jackets, but should these humble products drive the stockyards out of business a way doubtless would be found to adulterate them.

Solons Awfully Shocked.
Chicago News: Judging from their whiskers and the offhand manner in which they smoke cigars, you would never suspect that the members of the interstate commerce commission were born yesterday, but it is evident that they were; for they are greatly shocked and amazed at the graft revelations in connection with the Pennsylvania railway investigation.

Postal Swine.

Madison Democrat: Fake and fraudulent advertising periodicals are in a panic. As fast as the postal department catches them they are being dumped out of the mails or made to pay proper rates of postage. So far as our observation goes the postmaster general is deserving of enthusiastic encouragement to persevere in his good work till all this class of publications has been put in the category where it belongs. When this is done then there will be an end of the postal deficit which annually ranges from $1,000,000 to $14,000,000—all due to these cheap and worthless advertising sheets.

MODEL SCHOOL PLAN

Novel Features of Building to Be Erected in Chicago.

REST ROOMS FOR THE TEACHERS

Big Lunchroom on the Top Floor and Bowling Alleys in Basement—Gymnasium Two Stories High, With a Running Track, Architect and Teachers to Collaborate—Assembly Hall to Seat Twelve Hundred.

An ideal high school, equipped with every appliance and convenience which can add to the comfort and happiness of both pupils and teachers, is to be erected in South Chicago by the board of education, says the Chicago Tribune. Under the roof of the proposed "model high school" will be found everything from a rest room for the weary teachers to bowling alleys for the recreation seeking pupils.

In building the high school no extravagance is to be allowed. The building when completed will cost no more than any of the other high schools which have been built recently. The luxuries will be in the arrangement. The school board's architect, Dwight L. Perkins, completed the rough drawings the other day, and before the final plans are drawn teachers and principals from all the high schools will be called to conference.

Principal Charles I. Parker had a conference with Architect Perkins and carefully went over the tentative plan. Mr. Parker urged that a bowling alley should be added.

"With tuberculosis everywhere, we should do all we can to give the boys and girls exercise which will develop their lungs," he declared. "The use of a bowling alley will give them splendid exercise, and it will keep the boys away from the saloons, where they are now compelled to go to bowl. It is no more wicked to roll balls down an alley than to run races around a track in the gymnasium."

The new high school already has been named after James H. Bowen. It will occupy the block along Eighty-ninth street between Marquette and Main streets. Its dimensions will be 203 feet by 314 feet, and it will cost approximately $400,000.

One of the distinctive features of the building will be the great lunchroom to be built on the top floor. Instead of in the basement, as in the other high schools, this school restaurant, the largest ever planned for a Chicago school, will seat comfortably 750 pupils.

The assembly hall, which will seat 1,200, is to be built on the ground floor in the middle of the building. It also will be provided with seven exits, and a gallery will run around it on the level with the first floor. The assembly hall will be equipped with a stage large enough to accommodate 100 pupils.

West of the lobby, on the main floor, will be the principal's reception room, private office and fireproof vault. To the east of the lobby will be the rest rooms for the teachers, one for the men teachers and one for the women.

The building will have eighteen large class rooms, which will be lighted on two sides—on the one side from the street and on the other from a large area. In the front of the building on each floor will be the laboratories. The gymnasium will be 48 by 112 feet. It will be two stories high, the second story being used for the running track. Over it, on the third story, will be the large rooms where drawing will be taught.

GOLFER'S RARE STROKE.

Made the Tenth Hole in 185 Yard Drive.

Walton L. Crocker recently accomplished a feat that has been unparalleled in ten years of golf at the Country Club, Brookline, Mass., says a Boston "special" dispatch to the New York World. Driving from the clubhouse he sent his ball not only the fine distance of 185 yards, but directly into the tenth hole.

But Mr. Crocker's joy was short lived. It is a rule of golf generally observed that a player making a hole in one stroke in a tournament has to treat all the other competitors. There were just 139 others in the tournament—the biggest field ever starting out at Clyde park—and when Mr. Crocker got through paying for refreshments it was dark, though the marvelous shot was made in the forenoon.

Firemen's "Roll of Honor."

An endeavor is being made in London to have placed in a prominent position in some public institution what is known as the firemen's "roll of honor." The roll is at present kept at Southwark Bridge road headquarters and is much prized by the men, says the London News. Upon the heavy wooden framework are affixed small brass plates containing the names of the men who have lost their lives in fighting the flames.

WANT ONLY BETTER FOREIGN ELEMENT

TOO MANY UNDESIRABLE ARRIVALS FROM EUROPE.

AMERICA RIVAL TO CHINA

Senator McCreary Says It Will Take Only Four Generations at Present Rate to Equal Celestial Density.

Washington, May 23.—The senate devoted the greater part of Tuesday's session to consideration of the immigration bill, but before it was taken up Senator McCumber made a personal statement contradicting an article printed in the New York Tribune to the effect that the railroad rate bill had been so amended at his instance as to render it ineffective.

Previous to that time also the senate adopted a resolution directing the committee on "privileges and elections" to consider the course to be pursued in the case of Senator Burton.

Speeches on the immigration bill were made by Senators Dillingham, McCreary, Bacon, Scott, Patterson and others.

Senator Patterson said, in reply to Senator Bacon, that but for the contract labor law immigrant laborers would be brought into the country to take the places of the striking coal miners, and expressed apprehension that people allowed to enter as farm laborers would turn to other occupations which give more continued employment and better wages. Hence, he contended that the restrictions should not be removed, but rather that they should be enforced.

Would Bar Unworthy.

Senator McCreary made a set speech in support of the bill, urging the regulation of immigration so as to confine our acquisitions only to the worthy. The present increase he characterized as startling—the immigration for the past year numbering as many as for the entire first 100 years of the history of the country. At the present rate only four generations would be necessary to bring the population of the country up to the density of China. He called attention to the increase in recent years of the immigrants from southeastern Europe, and to the falling off from southwestern Europe, and also the unequal distribution of the immigrants in our northeastern states after their arrival. He predicted that this uneven distribution would soon present a serious problem to the people of the large eastern states.

Bad Element Increasing.

Senator Scott combined in his remarks the two subjects of immigration and naturalization. He took the position that the laws on both subjects are inadequate and should be improved. Of immigration he said many of the acquisitions are undesirable and that this bad element is constantly increasing. He would therefore have much more stringent regulation than at present for the restriction of the number and an improvement of the class, and when the ignorant and vicious immigrants arrive would extend the restrictions so as not to make it so easy for them to secure the elective franchise. He declared that very few of these people vote their own sentiments, but that most of them are the mere tools of political machines. He asserted that many foreigners who come to the United States do so only for the purpose of becoming naturalized that they may be protected against the laws of their own country when they return to it.

The bill was then read through and the amendments suggested by the committee accepted without opposition until the last one was reached. This was a provision for supplying information to immigrants concerning the various states and permitting any state to make an exhibit at any immigrant station. It was late in the day when this provision was reached, and it being evident that much objection would be made of it, further consideration was postponed until Wednesday.

Cause of Curly Hair.

Curly hair is a constitutional hereditary phenomenon. The curly hair curls because it is flat. Straight hair is cylindrical. Being flat, the hair has a natural tendency to assume a spiral shape. Cutting has no effect, as the cause of the flatness lies in the shape of the follicle. Hair issuing from a slanting, crooked follicle is bound to be flattened and twisted.

THE CIGAR BUSINESS

Some Facts of Interest to Smokers.

The cigar industry is just now passing through a period of transition. But the changes are taking place very rapidly. For over 30 years not one notable improvement had been made in the methods of cultivating tobacco before its preparation for manufacture into cigars. But modern scientific methods have at last been introduced, beginning back at the plantations and affecting every step from the selection of the seed to the actual rolling of the cigar. And in the National line of cigars we have the quality; they will never change; they are always in just the right condition. The Black & White is going to be one of our big leaders, a 5c straight seed and Havana cigar worth 10c. Don't take our word for it, but come in and try one "on the house."—Smith's Pharmacy.

Village of Cripples.
The strangest village in the world is undoubtedly the little hamlet of Jatte, near Colize, in France, not far from the Italian frontier, where dwell about 200 deformed men, women and children, who in Paris go by the name of "Culs-de-Jatte." They are deprived of the use of their legs and thighs, and push themselves along in primitive wooden carts with wooden wheels, which they propel by means of a flat-iron-shaped block of wood in either hand.

Appearance Decisive.

Discouraging.
"As I watched you dancing," he said, "the thought suddenly came to me that you were a poem set to music." With a hopeless sigh she turned her back on him, for she knew something about poetry and had made a study of the kinds that are usually set to music.

"Rote of Waves"

It is a favorite theory with fishing and sea-faring people that in a storm three waves are strong and violent, while the fourth is comparatively weak and less dangerous. This succession they call a "rote of waves." Fishermen returning from their fishing-ground often prove by experience the truth of their theory, and hang back as they come near the shore to take advantage of the lull that follows three big breakers.

TO BUILD RIVER WALL AT ONCE

M. G. JEFFRIS PREPARES TO CARRY OUT HIS PLANS.

ADDITION TO M. & M. BANK

Is to Be Erected, and an Entire New Front and Furnishings Installed.

Work of filling in the basement for a concrete floor preliminary to the building of a large addition and the making of extensive alterations and improvements in the Merchants & Mechanics' bank building, was quietly inaugurated this week. The south end of the structure, facing on Milwaukee street, is to be enlarged so as to give it a 34-foot frontage and the Merchants & Mechanics' bank is to occupy the entire floor, according to M. G. Jeffris, the owner of the property. There are to be commodious waiting rooms in the rear and a new burglar-proof vault to be used exclusively for books and safety-deposit boxes is to supplement the one used at the present time. The lobby is to be so enlarged that its dimensions will be about 34x30 feet. Counters and interior furniture and furnishings in use at present are to be taken out and replaced by the most modern, convenient, and handsome appointments obtainable. The addition in the rear will be but one story high with a basement.

"At the same time these improvements are under way," said Mr. Jeffris this morning, "we will commence laying a concrete wall along the bank of the river which will extend from the rear of the buildings to the old Marshall mill. We are going to have the dirt scraped out beyond the line of the wall so as to widen the stream 40 feet at its narrowest point. In that locality the stream will be deepened by scraping out the present bed a matter of a foot or so."

The announcement that the river is to be both widened and deepened near the Milwaukee street bridge and that the concrete retaining wall is actually to be built this season will come as good news to all who have the interests of the city at heart.

FACTORIES BUSY IN FILLING THE ORDERS

Janesville Material Is in Demand the Country Over at Present.

These are busy days for the Janesville Sash & Door Co., filling contracts for buildings which are now in the progress of construction in various parts of the country. Several large contracts are being filled and cars are being loaded every day by the employees of the factory. There are now about ninety-five men in the employ of the company to fill the orders which are now being rushed for spring building. Two large buildings are being constructed in Chicago, one a twelve-story flat called the Windsor and the other a fifteen-story department store which will be named the Sherwin Department House, which this company has the contract for the sashes and doors. The Montford, Wis., new high school is being built and the whole contract has been captured by the local concern. Another high school is being built at Davenport, Iowa, which is under way of construction. One carload of frames has been shipped to that city and the balance will follow in a short time. A large order has been received from a Chicago contractor for six new buildings at Glenview, Ill., and these also are to be shipped in the near future. The contract for the army posts at Fort Lawrence, Ind., has been awarded to this concern and fifteen carloads of woodwork has been sent to that point. Word to the effect that the work of finishing the Chippewa high school will probably be given to the local concern was received lately.

Cotton Company

The traveling men who are on the road for this concern are reporting well and the work for the coming season promises to equal that of former years. The consignment of twine and mattresses is very large and promises to be much better as the season advances. Some new textile machinery has been purchased from a Lowell, Mass., concern and a man has been here for the last few days helping in the installation of this machinery.

FARLEY PUNISHED WITH A $10 FINE

Operator at Shopiere Who Was Arrested Here Thursday Pleaded Guilty in Court Today.

Arthur P. Farley, former operator for the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. at Shopiere, who was arrested at the YD tower here last Thursday on the charge of fraudulently taking and appropriating to his own use the sum of $10.22 belonging to the company, appeared in court this afternoon and entered a plea of "guilty." When asked if he had anything to say in his own behalf, Farley made a statement in which he covered the whole story of the transaction. He said that he had no intention of stealing the money; that he had gotten into trouble with other employees of the road along the telegraph line and had given notice that he was going to quit as soon as he was clear of trains. Accordingly, as soon as he received the dispatcher's "O. K." and "good-night" he tried to telephone the agent to come down and take charge of the station. Failing to rouse him, and believing that he would be held responsible for the money if it was left unprotected in the station, he took it with him and boarded a freight for Janesville. He denied having flagged the limited and said that he was sending a message to headquarters telling them that he would be up to settle, when he was arrested the next morning. He had met with another operator who had quit, had partaken too freely of intoxicants, and spent some of the money the previous evening but before leaving Shopiere he had telegraphed Oshkosh and learned that his pay envelope was on the way. So he anticipated no trouble on that score. Judge Pfeiffer said that he believed the crime had not been intentional and that he was disposed to impose a light penalty in the hope that it would be sufficient lesson to the prisoner to be more careful with other people's money in the future. He fixed as the punishment a fine of $10 and costs amounting to $3.39, which Farley paid.

KICKERS' KOLUM

To the Editor: A gang of a dozen or more young ruffians have been annoying residents of the third ward for some time. A number of these young degenerates, ranging from about fourteen to twenty years of age, belong to first-class families, and have had the advantage of good education. Still they are not above skulking around people's yards at night, peering into windows, trying back doors, stealing all the food out of every refrigerator they can get at, throwing sand, etc., at windows, banging heavy boards against front piazzas, and many other brilliant tricks. This is kept up night after night. Several of the gang reside on the Forest Park street car line. The names of others are known also, and arrests will soon follow.

CONTROL OF GRAZING ON THE PUBLIC LANDS IN WEST

Successful Permit System Now in Force on Reserve Ranges Insures Stability of Live-Stock Industry.

Now that the government grazing policy is in successful operation on the national forest reserves, the question has arisen whether the same or some similar policy might not be applied to the open public range.

The policy of the forest service is not to hold the reserves out of use, but to secure their fullest and most permanent use. To this end, grazing under proper restrictions is permitted. Happily, these restrictions have thus far met with general approval.

From the first, the importance of fitting the regulations to local conditions has been recognized. Rules of encasement needless hardship to stockmen have been modified, and emergencies demanding instant action have been promptly met.

When a new reserve has been proclaimed all stock grazing upon it is allowed to remain during the first year; if, afterwards, this number is found to be too great for the resources of the range, it is gradually reduced. Stockmen are aided in effecting a satisfactory distribution of their stock upon the range and in securing from it the most profitable and permanent use. Small stock owners living in the vicinity of the reserves are given such preferences in the allotment of grazing privileges as will protect their interests. First occupants of the range and farmers owning improved lands adjacent are also protected. The rights of large owners are not overlooked, and the range custom of the past are recognized, and reductions in the number of their stock are required only when necessary to protect the range or the grazing rights of bona fide settlers.

Necessary range divisions between owners of different kinds of stock are made and controversy between sheepmen and cattlemen is promptly ended. Where necessary, the construction of drift or division fences is also allowed, provided the area fenced is not greater than the needs of the stock owner.

Alfonso and His Bride

Character Sketch of Spain's Boy King and Princess Victoria Eugenie

Fun Loving Monarch, the Only Bourbon on a European Throne—Full of Life and Fond of Madcap Pranks—Cool When in Peril—Mixes Freely With His People, Who Love Him For His Kindness. His Bride a Court Beauty and Already Popular

THE king of Spain is to be married. Perhaps several thousand columns too much of gush have been printed about the affair, yet it is not without interest. The importance of the event does not inhere in the young man himself, who seems ordinary enough, but in his position and in what he stands for. Nearly everybody gets married at least once, and nothing much is said about the matter, but everybody is not the symbol of a nation. Alfonso de Bourbon as an individual is a youth of fair education, of somewhat sporty proclivities and of quite a few very human impulses withal, but Alfonso XIII, king of Spain and with a formidable array of other more or less moribund titles, is quite another thing. He is the representative of some millions of human beings, and it is on their account that we consider him. Human brotherhood is about the most conspicuous and important fact in this our age, and it is because of our kindred feeling to the people of Spain, good and kindly for the most part, that we take cognizance of him who is their ombudsman. Personally, most of us would prefer that the king business were ended everywhere, but each reign to its own taste.

Democracy to Conquer Nations.

Alfonso is the only Bourbon occupying a throne in Europe. France got rid of that tribe some time ago. It was not the family, however, against which France was rebelling, but the whole monarchist regime. She was no more happy under Louis Philippe or Napoleon the Little than she had been under the old dynasty. What she wanted men, that kind of blood is worth all it takes to make and replenish it, and of this the boy king of Spain seems to have his share. He keeps the dried up mummies about his court in a continual state of collapse because he insists on breaking through formalities and conventionalities. In other words, he is alive, and a live man is a joy anywhere, even on a Bourbon throne.

Driving his automobile till he makes his courtiers gasp in fear of their lives, climbing mountains till he wears out guides, dancing all night in plectro dance halls, doing kindly deeds to peasants, floating his ministers if they do not please him, flirting with half of the princesses of Europe, playing madcap pranks, getting soldiers out at midnight to parade, showing an easy self-possession in the face of attempts on his life, storming tempestuously when attempts are made to restrain him and generally enjoying life in spite of royal red tape, these are a few of the things by means of which this slim young king has set Spain and most of the rest of Europe agog.

Imitator of the Kaiser.

One of the king's fads is to carry a camera, with which he continually takes views of scenes and people. For another thing, he is a good shot and is particularly fond of hunting. He is democratic and goes about the streets of Madrid freely. He speaks four languages outside of his own, and his English is said to be almost without accent. He has made it a point to become versed in political economy and insists on familiarizing himself with all questions relating to his government.

day look several snapshots of a pretty American girl, who grew highly indignant, and rushing to the camera threw it on the ground with the ejaculation, "How dare you?" An attendant interposed and said, "Madam, this is the king of Spain." "It makes no difference who he is," said the irate young lady. "This is the seventh time he has photographed me. I call that insulting, and I want him to know it." Then the king got into the frame. "Tell her we thought her remarkably pretty," he said to the attendant. "That's our excuse. Beg her pardon and say that after this the pictures shall not be developed." This occurrence not only reveals royal dexterity, but teaches us to appreciate the independence of the American girl.

We Ought to Be Friends.

When young Alfonso visited one of the smaller Spanish towns the alcalde tried to deliver a laboriously prepared speech of welcome, but broke down and stammered lamely. The king waited one or two embarrassed moments, when with a merry smile he broke in: "You, Senor Alcalde, are evidently only a beginner in your trade of speechmaking, but then I am only a beginner also in my trade of being king. We ought to be friends."

While in Paris, Alfonso, asked the president of the chamber of deputies if he ever had to be severe in the exercise of authority. The president said that he had only applied the censorious once or twice. "And for what reason?" inquired the king. "For speaking ill of the republic," replied the president. "Oh," said Alfonso, "if I applied the censor to all who speak ill of me I should have nothing else to do."

The king was greeted by one delegation in the French capital, all the members of which were decorated with the order of Charles IV. of Spain. "I see," he said, "that you all wear the same decoration that I do, but with this difference, gentlemen—that you have earned yours, whereas I got mine through no especial merit of my own."

Instances of His Kindness.

Alfonso on meeting some poor peasants on the road looking for work took them into his automobile, carried them to the next town and interested in their behalf. At another time his car frightened a team of mules so that the driver was thrown out. Taking the man into his motor, Alfonso leaped out and stopped the mules and saw the man again safely on his way. A poor woman on trying to hand the king a petition on the street was roughly handled by a policeman. Alfonso remonstrated the officer, spoke kindly to the woman and took the petition. When the young monarch heard that people were starving in Andalusia he gave up a projected tour to France and ordered that the money for the trip be used to buy bread for the needy. At the time the Madrid reservoirs broke Alfonso mounted a swift horse and rode to the scene of the disaster, helped organize the work of rescue, then rode back to the palace, where he was due to preside over a council of his ministers. As he seated himself at the head of the table the minister of the interior pompously began, "Sir, it is my sad duty to inform you that this morning a terrible accident"—"Never mind," said the king. "I was there." It is by such little deeds as these that Alfonso has endeared himself to his people.

The king is only twenty years of age. He was born six months after the death of his father and thus was king from his birth, but until two years ago was under the regency of his mother, Queen Christina. Alfonso is really not a Spaniard at all, but is of French and Austrian descent. He is rather tall, but slight of build, quick and athletic. He rides well and is adept at many sports. He is dark, with a bright eye, large nose, thick under lip and slightly receding chin. His face is amiable and, while slightly willful, is not particularly strong. But, then he is young and may show more strength with age. Rulers, like whiskey, are better when old.

A Court Beauty.

The prospective queen of Spain is Princess Ena of Battenberg, niece of King Edward, also niece of Prince Louis, who brought a British fleet over here not long since. Ena has more names—Victoria, Julia, Eugenie and names—some others. One of them she got from Queen Victoria, of whom she was a favorite grandchild. Another is from her grandmother, ex-Queen Eugenie. The princess is eighteen and seems just a sweet, red checked, healthy English girl, who is nearly six feet in height and weighs almost 200 pounds. She is said to be a court beauty and is already popular in Spain. There are whispers that she was in love with a British nobleman, but that King Edward insisted on her becoming the wife of the Spanish king when the state of that young man's heart was made manifest. It is also related that Ena went on giving up her Protestant faith for that of Spain's king. There are doubtless heartbreaks even under royal purple. We have no right to assume perhaps that there was such in this case, for on the surface all the royal wooing has gone as "merry as a marriage bell."

There seems something of poetic justice in the fact that a Battenberg should become a queen, for when Princess Beatrice married Henry of Battenberg all the courts of Europe thought the alliance beneath her. Henry's mother, you know, was not royal. Now that his child is to occupy a throne, the other royalties do not quite approve. By the way, Ena will be officially known as Queen Victoria. May she live up to the name.

All those who enjoy kindly weddings should make the most of the present event for it is not impossible that no distant day the progress of the world will take us past that stage.

THE GREATEST OF ALL TONICS

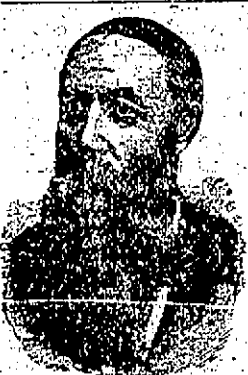

The ingredients that enter into S. S. S. and the method of combining and preparing them so that they build up and strengthen every part of the body, make it the greatest of all tonics. S. S. S. is nature's remedy—PURELY VEGETABLE—and while it is restoring the lost appetite, overcoming that tired, run-down feeling, and other ailments common to Spring, which warn us that it is necessary to take a tonic, it is purifying the blood of all poisons and waste matters so that it can supply to the system the strength and nourishment it needs to keep it in perfect condition during the depressing summer months that are to follow.

Spring is the season when most every one needs a tonic. It is nature's time for renewing and changing; and as everything puts on new life, the sap rises in vegetation, the earth thaws out from its winter freezes, and all respond to Spring's call to purge and purify themselves, there is a great change also takes place in our bodies. The blood endeavors to throw off the poisons and accumulations which have formed in the system, and been absorbed by it, from the inactive winter life, and calls upon every member to assist in the elimination. The system is often unequal to the struggle, the appetite grows fickle, the energies give way, the spirits are depressed, and a general run-down condition is the result.

Then the body must have assistance—it must be strengthened and aided by a tonic, and S. S. S. is the ideal one. Being made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, it does not disagreeably affect the system in any way as do most of the so-called tonics on the market, which contain Potash or some other harmful mineral ingredient to derange the stomach and digestion, unfavorably affect the bowels, or otherwise damage the health. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion and assists in the assimilation of food; it rids the system of that always-tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and tone to every part of the body. It re-establishes the healthy circulation of the blood, stimulates the sluggish organs, and calms the unstrung nerves which make one feel that he is on the verge of prostration. S. S. S. gives an appetite and relish for food that nothing else does, and by its use we can find ourselves with as hearty, hungry an appetite in Spring as at any other season.

It acts more promptly and gives better and more lasting results than any other remedy, and is absolutely safe because of its vegetable purity. Dyspeptic, irritable, nervous, debilitated people will find S. S. S. is just the medicine that is needed for the purification of the blood, which, from its diseased or impure condition, is causing their trouble, as well as for toning up and helping the entire system. When you take your tonic this Spring do not experiment, but get the best—the tonic with forty years of success behind it, and the one endorsed by the best people all over the country—S. S. S., THE GREATEST OF ALL TONICS. It is necessary at this time, when the system is depleted and weakened at every point, that the right remedy be used—one that is especially adapted to the condition, and S. S. S. has proved itself to be this remedy for many years. If it is taken at the first sign of Spring the system will be so built up and strengthened that the disagreeable affections of the season will not be felt as warmer weather comes on.

TROUBLE ON DIFFERENTIAL

BONE OF CONTENTION BETWEEN MINERS AND OPERATORS.

Indiana and Kentucky Supply Cities in Illinois Belt, Owing to Lower Wage Scale.

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—The fact that Chicago, St. Louis and several smaller markets are buying coal in Kentucky and Indiana may bring to an abrupt close the joint conference of miners and operators of Illinois, which is now in session here endeavoring to find a solution of the present labor controversy. The joint committee again took up its labors Tuesday. The discussion was centered on the mine-run system and the disadvantage at which Illinois is placed as compared with neighboring states. The machine differential is also reckoned with. Kentucky, Indiana and other states have the double working standard, but have a screen system as well, which serves to check abuses in the mine-run system.

There was a discussion also of day wages in Illinois as compared with Kentucky. The day wage of drivers, timber men, bottom cage men and other workers in this state, under the scale of 1904 and 1905, was shown to be higher than in Kentucky, where the 1903 scale has been restored.

Track layers, water haulers and practically all other inside day laborers in Kentucky are employed for the full number of working hours; according to a statement by the operators, while in Illinois these men quit work as soon as shooting begins in the afternoon, the operator thus losing half an hour or more on each man.

The machine differential in Kentucky is 15 1/2 per cent. in Kentucky it is 10 1/2 per cent. These conditions give Kentucky an advantage over Illinois of 8 1/2 per cent., while Indiana has an advantage of 3 1/2 per cent.

In eastern Illinois coal is being shipped in from Indiana, owing to the advantages which mines enjoy in the latter state.

G. W. Traer, president of the Cardiff Coal company, at whose mines there was a reported conflict between strike breakers and union pickets, was here Tuesday and said that the reports had been greatly exaggerated. Mr. Traer denied that he had called upon the sheriff for aid.

NEW PHILIPPINE COINAGE

BILL TO INCREASE ELASTICITY OF THE CURRENCY.

Silver Pesos Are Worth More for Bullion Than Face Value, Causing Scarcity of Coin.

Washington, May 23.—Senator Lodge Tuesday introduced a bill at the request of Secretary Taft for a readjustment of the ratio of the Philippine coinage and for an increase in the elasticity of the present system. The bill is framed upon the recommendations of the Philippine commissioners contained in their last annual report and, in brief, authorizes the commission, with the consent of the president, to change the weight and fineness of the silver peso, and to recoin the existing pesos to make them correspond with the change.

It appears that there is a pressing necessity for this change in order to prevent the exportation of the peso from the archipelago, and also to save the government from loss. A condition predicted by the commissioners has come to pass, and the silver in a peso is now worth more for bullion than the coinage value.

Mr. Conant, the author of the present currency system in the islands, proposed that the peso should weigh 385 grains, .835 fine, but congress provided 416 grains, .900 fine. The result is that to-day, owing to the enhancement in price of silver bullion, the peso with a purchasing value of 50 cents contains 82 1/2 cents' worth of silver and costs three-quarters of a cent to mint.

Another important feature of the bill is an authorization of the use of American gold coin as a basis for the paper peso. It is apparent that the 10,000,000 paper pesos in circulation will soon amount to double that sum, and the government will be obliged to build new vaults for the storage of silver bullion and to pay high prices for the bullion unless permitted to substitute gold to the extent of not to exceed 60 per cent. of the peso issued.

Provision is also made for the deposit of this gold reserve in the United States at good interest.
